LAST WEEK

NEW YEAR'S EVE celebrations were the topic of conversation at local clubs and restaurants, as well as in many private homes. Pictured above are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman (Tiny Johnston), who spent the holidays on the Monterey Peninsula with Mrs. Newman's parents, the Markham Johnstons of Carmel. They are seen here at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club dinner dance New Year's Eve. (Center) Just as the barrage of balloons was released at the stroke of midnight at Del Monte Lodge. (Right) Mrs. Louis L. Carmody of Monterey and Carl L. Cope of Carmel, with their respective spouses, attend the New Year's Eve celebration at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. The topic of conversation is now the CROSBY TOURNAMENT next week, and Hollywood will really have a representation of stars in this year's $10,000 National Pro-Amateur Golf Championship sponsored by Bing Crosby. Dates are Friday, January 12, at Cypress Point Club; Saturday, January 13, at Monterey Peninsula Country Club, and Sunday, January 14, at Pebble Beach.

Among the stars who will be on hand as Crosby's guests this year are Bob Hope (shown above in left picture), Mickey Rooney, Phil Harris, Bob Crosby, Johnny Weismuller, Dennis O'Keefe, Randy Scott (in right picture) with John W. Morse, president of Del Monte Properties, who will also play, and others.

Francis Ouimet, Gene Sarazan and Walter Hagen, three of the greatest names in the world of golf, will also be among those playing in the tournament. Center picture (above) shows Cam Puget, Bing Crosby, Jimmy Demaret and Warren Ingersol as they posed for photographer Julian P. Graham.

Selection of the professionals is on a new basis this year, according to Larry Crosby, general manager of the tournament. Ten pros will be selected by Bing Crosby himself, while 40 top pros will be selected by the P.G.A., and five each by qualification in Northern California.

This will leave a minimum of 16 professionals to qualify January 10, at Pebble Beach. All pros of course must be approved by the P.G.A.

First day's play will be at exclusive Cypress Point Club, rarely open to the public, on Friday, January 12. The next day the entire field of 150 pro-amateur foursomes moves over to Monterey Peninsula Country Club for the second 18 holes of the 54 hole tournament. Concluding 18 holes is on Sunday at Pebble Beach.

Over 15,000 fans gathered last year for a total gate of better than $30,000, all of which went to charity, including a large part for the Carmel Youth Center, since Crosby pays all the bills, including the $10,000 prizes.

REAL ESTATE OFFICERS TO BE INSTALLED

A joint meeting of the Carmel Board of Realtors and the Monterey Peninsula Realty Board will be held at the Mission Ranch Monday night, January 8. New officers of the Carmel and Monterey Boards will be installed. In Carmel, Enos Fourat has been designated president and Jack Geisen vice-president. Other officers will be announced at the meeting.

Also attending, as honor guest, will be the new president of the California Real Estate Association, Willard A. Johnson. Mr. Johnson, who is from San Francisco, is to be installed in office Saturday, in the latter city.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 3 P.M. for Ralph L. Hughes of Salinas. Mr. Hughes died New Year's Day after a brief illness, at the age of 62. At the time of his death, Mr. Hughes was engaged in the real estate business in Salinas. He was formerly in the banking business with his brother, A. C. Hughes, of Carmel, who is president of the Monterey County Trust and Savings Bank.

Train Toddler to Avoid Street

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

YESTERDAY we observed the heartrending picture of so many little children under five or six being maimed or slaughtered in the streets right by their homes and often in the sight of their parents. We asserted that most of these precious little children could be kept whole and alive if their parents trained them effectively to avoid automatically going beyond certain clearly designated boundaries, by means of physical pain applied instantly and without exception by self-disciplined parents who are consistent.

Now this is not just a theory from an armchair child psychologist. It worked with our own children when they were very young. It has worked with our eleven young grandchildren. Scores of mothers, while students of mine at Western Reserve University some years ago, reported that it worked with their toddlers. Hundreds of other young parents from all over the United States and Canada have written to tell me that it works. Practically all of these parents have expressed amazement at how few spankings have been necessary and how permanent are the effects.

Followed Advice

For example, a father writes of his son, 5½: "We followed your advice on teaching the meaning of 'No' to our boy when he was much younger, as explained in your bulletin, 'How To Teach Child Meaning of No' (which we received from you by writing you for it and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope), and also several times in your column. It was very simple and 100% effective, and it didn't take many spankings, either. We don't spank him now, but the lesson it taught is still with him. Until recently when we have allowed him more freedom, he never stepped out of the yard without permission. How this can remain with him is a puzzle to me, as he surely can't remember the spankings he received some years ago."

Well, he need not remember the earlier spankings as you and I remember a poem or how to spell busy. His nervous system remembers for him without his conscious recall.

Ten or Twelve

After our own children had reached the age of ten or twelve, we asked each one when alone with us how many spankings he or she could remember. The daughter could not recall a single one, but she had received a few before she was four. The boys each could remember one. Both instances the parents could recall vividly, also, as they occurred very late—when each youngster was nearly five—and were of unwise choice, no doubt. A good measure of the efficiency of spankings is how entirely they have been lost in the child's conscious memory but remembered in the permanent good results.

Yet thousands of children who at four or five continue to run into the streets unrestrainedly may have been spanked often for doing so, sometimes brutally. But they were not spanked consistently; not always spanked immediately and without exception. They may have often run into the street without being spanked for the first time or run there ever so many times thereafter without receiving instant pain. With so much fun from adventure and at escaping the anxious shouting parent, why should an occasional pain experience deter this child from street dangers? Any parent who wishes to train a toddler to avoid the street and to gain safety habits useful for him the rest of his life must let everything else go and follow a carefully-planned program literally, in order to get good results. Isn't a little child's precious life worth saving?

Audubon Screen Tour Tonight at Sunset

Nature lovers are reminded that the Audubon Society presents its third Screen Tour this evening, January 5, at 8 P.M., in Sunset School Auditorium. The lecturer, Mr. Bert Harwell, needs no introduction to Peninsula residents. He is a native of Berkeley, National Audubon Society representative, is the country's outstanding interpreter of bird songs through whistling imitations, and has few equals as a platform lecturer. His subject, "Canada East," starts in the tremendous falls of Niagara, thence northeastward to the sea, a region of our continent with a character distinctly its own.

Bert Harwell's amazing whistling ability is augmented by all-color motion pictures, films he has made in nationwide travels over mountains and valleys, deserts and prairies of our country. In this lecture he leads his audience through the Laurentian Mountains, along the island-studded St. Lawrence River, to the remote Gaspe coast and the secluded Maritime Provinces, weaving into the color film, as it unrolls, the adventures of his travels.

This is another Harwell "nature-logue,"—a colorful journey with a famous naturalist—to CANADA EAST.

Gift from Australia Reaches Carmel

Alice Kirwan, who will be remembered by many as librarian at the General Line School in Monterey, is now with the American Library of the U.S. State Department in Sydney, Australia. She has just sent Carmel an interesting gift in the form of eight juvenile books for the Carmel Library on the animals and birds peculiar to Australia.

The books, all beautifully illustrated, are "Silvertail, the Lyrebird," by Ina Watson; "Kooborr, the Koala," by Charles Barrett, and six books by Leslie Rees:
"Shy, the Platypus," "Sarli, the Barrier Reef Turtle," "Kurri Kurri, the Kookaburra," "Karrawingi, the Emu," "Bluecaps and Bimbi, the Blue Wrens." These are now on display at the Carmel Library and go into general circulation
next Monday, January 8.

New Hill Theater Open Nightly; Two Matinees Weekly

New to the Monterey Peninsula is the Carmel Hill Theater, just off the Highway in the Monte Vista Tract, which held a pre-opening last Tuesday evening and its regular opening yesterday, January 4. Bob Read and Paul Clark hosted the group of Tuesday guests, telling them in delightfully informal and humorous fashion of some of the problems and delays involved in launching the new venture. Drinks were served at the modernistic bar in the foyer preceding the showing of the French film, "Marius," and coffee following the performance. The latter gesture of hospitality will be part of the regular ritual at The Hill—as used to be the custom at Carmel's Golden Bough. Coffee-drinkers may gather either around this indoor bar, or around the brazier in the lighted patio.

But no popcorn munching during performances! And no small wiggly children, who ought to be at home tucked in their beds, allowed! Only sedate ten-year-olds, dignified teen-agers and adults are invited to our new theater.

Somewhat reminiscent of The Cinema on Cape Cod is the theater building. Interesting in its modernistic architecture, it is shaped like a blimp hangar, with beamed walls slanting toward the stage. Furniture, matching the ceiling beams in color, and odd-shaped pieces of grey driftwood, afford a harmonious and unique decor. The color scheme is coral and grey; the curtain over the screen a gay plaid.

Dimmed recessed lights continue to burn during performances and this diffused light is far pleasanter than the usual sharp contrast of glaring lights and complete darkness. Under-floor radiant heating makes for comfortable warmth, and additional comfort, due to the seat staggering arrangement which makes neck-cranning unnecessary, is possible. There is space for some 300 spectators.

First showings at the theater are the trilogy of French films, with backgrounds in Marseille—"Marius," which started yesterday and will continue through tomorrow night, January 6; "Fanny," to be shown Sunday and Monday, January 7 and 8, and "Caesar," scheduled for January 9 and 10! These plays are really film-novels—by Marcel Pagnol, author of "Baker's Wife" and "The Well Digger's Daughter."

A policy of Hill Theater will be one showing an evening of pictures, Monday through Friday, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, and two performances Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Congratulations to Bob and Paul

CAPTAIN AND MRS. ROBERT W. BERRY (ABOVE) of San Francisco are spending their honeymoon in Carmel and have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Cochrane at their home on Hatton Fields Mesa. Capt. Berry and the former Mrs. Dorothy Van Buren, of Portland and San Francisco, were married in Carson City, Nevada, December 30. Capt. Berry was special assistant to James Forrestal, when the latter was Secretary of Defense, and handled public relations for Secretary Forrestal's department. At present he is naval aid to Lt. General A. C. Wedemeyer, commander of the Sixth Army at the Presidio in San Francisco. Capt. and Mrs. Berry will make their home in San Francisco.

"First Dinner" Held In New All Saints' Church

Election of three vestrymen and holding of a "first dinner, under the new roof" marked the annual meeting of All Saints' Episcopal Church parish Wednesday evening at the parish hall, in the undercroft of the new church building at Dolores and Ninth, Carmel.

Also highlighting the supper gathering was a review of various undertakings of the parish during the past year, which saw both groundbreaking and virtual completion of the new church, and a briefing on many projects to be pursued in 1951.

PEBBLE BEACH NOTES,

Mrs. Grace Parsons Douglas, of the Douglas Schools and Camps at Pebble Beach, has been spending the Christmas holidays in Los Angeles, where she has been entertained extensively by her many friends there.

Last Sunday, the Russell Havenstrites gave a luncheon for her at the Beverly Hills Polo Club, following the practice game. Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Janss honored her with a dinner party at the Beach Combers. Mrs. Douglas is also visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Cameron Hall of Ann Arbor, who are flying their plane out for a holiday visit with Mrs. Hall's parents, the Russell Havenstrites. Mrs. Hall is a former student at the Douglas School, where she was well known for her horsemanship.

Winners in the Animal Christmas Party at Pebble Beach have been announced. Tied for first place were Junia Gratiot, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Gratiot, and Jon Goldsworthy, son of the Clarence Goldsworthys.

Runners-up were Nancy Freebom of the General Line School, Judy Williams, Christopher Engle, Joan Engle and Linda Stager, of Carmel, Sharon Ann Taras of Pebble Beach, Jim Fletcher of Seaside, Larry Clemens and Stephen Levy of Pacific Grove, and Patty Dougherty of Monterey. There was one other winner, identified so far only as "Elizabeth" of Brentwood, California, who is being traced by her post office box number.

Conservation of Natural Resources Conference

The second regional conference on the Conservation of Natural Resources will be held in Wheeler Hall, University of California campus, Berkeley, January 15, 26 and 27. The co-sponsors are the State Departments of Natural Resources and Education, and the University of California. Twelve Bay Area counties, including Monterey County, will comprise this regional meeting.

Private industry is cooperating in planning the conference and will assume an active role in discussions.

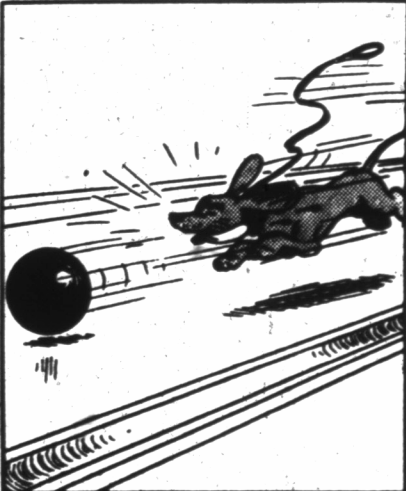

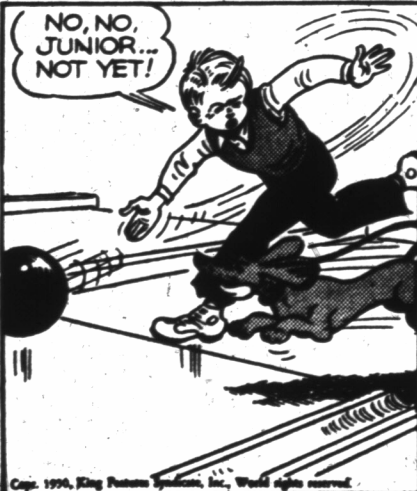

Adult Education Program Offers Art Classes

The new term starts January 4 for the drawing and painting classes to be held at the Monterey Peninsula College under the Adult Education program. Edmund Dempsey, instructor, reports a very gratifying response to this new class.

Meeting time will be Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7:30 to 10:00, and a class especially devoted to outdoor landscape painting will be held Monday afternoons from 1:30 to 4:30.

Prospective students should contact Calvin C. Cope at the Monterey Peninsula College, phone 2-5861. There is no charge for attendance at these classes.

Calvin Flint's Return From Southland

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Flint, of Monterey Peninsula College, have just returned from visiting their families in Los Angeles and Santa Anna during the Christmas holidays. "Traffic," says Mrs. Flint, "was so bad that I was thankful to get back to our little house in Carmel."

Return from Abroad

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Neroda and their son Edward returned home Tuesday from ten weeks of travel in England and France. At the start of their trip they drove their car to New York, picking it up on their return. Christmas was spent in New Jersey with Mr. Neroda's mother.

Louise Sargent Marries

Louise Sargent and Gerald Evans Bucik were married in Reno, Nevada, last Friday evening, December 29, in the Mapes Hotel Chapel.

Party at Redhead Residence

A large cocktail party was hosted, last Friday, by the John J. Redheads, at their Peter's Gate home in Monterey.

Harvey-Balengee Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Van Ostrand and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Balengee at a buffet supper this week announced the engagement of Mrs. Van Ostrand's daughter, Janice Ann Harney, to Jack Wallace Balengee, son of the Balengees. The party was on New Year's Eve at the Van Ostrand home on Fourth and Randall in Carmel. Approximately 45 friends of the young couple and their parents enjoyed the supper.

Janice, who has been employed at the Carmel Dairy, was graduated from the Carmel High School last year. The groom-to-be has been working at Wilder & Jones since his graduation from Carmel High. He plans to go into the Marines on January 9. The young couple are planning their wedding for the spring.

Crippled Children's Guild Praised

Special recognition for outstanding services to crippled youngsters during the past year has been given the Monterey Peninsula Crippled Children's Guild.

In a year-end report to the board of directors of the California Society for Crippled Children, Harry A. Mitchell, president of the state-wide organization, praised the Monterey Peninsula Guild for its extensive program of aid to handicapped children. He commended them particularly for the diagnostic and medical services extended to crippled children, so that they may be given an opportunity to lead normal, self-sufficient lives.

The Monterey Peninsula Crippled Children's Guild, of which Dr. Charles A. Galligan is chairman, will launch its fund appeal through the Easter Seal Campaign on February 25. Our local guild is one of 41 organizations affiliated with the California Society for Crippled Children. Together these county societies cover approximately 98 per cent of the state's population. Their aim is the rehabilitation of every handicapped child in California. They do not duplicate services offered by any other organization, public or private.

WHO IS IT?

To Carmel our this week's "Who Is It?" is perhaps best known as the man responsible for the unique Christmas display which residents from all over everywhere jam Peninsula traffic to see. To the rest of the world he's one of its foremost cartoonists, and to both he's Jimmy Hatlo, resident of Wit's End on Monte Verde Street. There he loves to "just live"--when They'll Do It Every Time and Little Iodine give him a moment's rest from their constant demands.

Of Little Iodine he says, "She's really a bad little girl. Name? Iodine, because she's poison." This particular poison is meat to most of the world, however, for her antics are translated into many foreign languages. From the fjords of Scandinavia to the jungles of Latin America Little Iodine--as well as the characters of They'll Do It Every Time--do their stuff. Both cartoons are extremely popular with the Spanish. "How they find just the right colloquialism for our American slang I have never figured out," Mr. Hatlo says, "but they do an excellent job of it under the competent direction of a man named Massaguer, who did translating for years for Conde Nast.

"A movie has been made of Little Iodine and she is to be a television star as well." Like Topsy she "just grew" out of her place as one of the *They'll Do It Every Time*ers into a full length appearance of her own in both daily and Sunday comics in two or three hundred newspapers. Together with her friends in They'll Do It Every Time she is responsible for Mr. Hatlo's receiving the "Silver Lady" awarded to him recently by The Banshees as the outstanding cartoonist of 1950.

As long ago as 1921 when Mr. Hatlo first visited Carmel he dreamed of coming here to live--when he could find some sort of work with which he could earn a living by doing it wherever he happened to be--for "unless you were the kind who drew insurance annuities or cut coupons you couldn't live here."

In 1945 the Hatlos bought the little guest house which was on the property then owned by Lobos Lodge and formerly a part of Pine Inn. That little guest house immediately became the stub tail that wagged the dog, for attached to it there appeared a beautiful spacious home, the upper floor of which is the "delivery-room" for all the ideas springing from their author's mind. "I had this studio built just the way I wanted it, with all the things I need right at hand. I'm something of a camera nut myself," he said, pointing to a polaroid. "I take shots of all sorts of people doing all sorts of things--the gardener taking off his coat, my secretary hanging up her hat, Bobo, my wire-haired terrier, lying in the sun--because the camera gives me just the accuracy necessary to save me many an unnecessary pen stroke."

The manner in which Jimmy Hatlo has climbed to the topmost rung of cartoon fame is partly accidental. Although he started life as a sports cartoonist for the Los Angeles Times, he deserted the drawing board for ten years of automobile editing for the San Francisco Bulletin and later for the Call. By happenstance he drew a "funny" of a football game, and his manager asked for more. Soon the circle had swung around and he was back at a drawing board. Happy accident that took him from a desk on the old Call to world fame. Insurance annuity holders and coupon cutters take notice!

All Saints' Making Multiple Uses of New Facilities

Winter activities for youngsters of All Saints' Episcopal Church are under way this week with a three-fold program at the new Parish Hall, Lincoln and Ninth, in Carmel.

Sunday morning at 9:30 the Church School starts its new term, enjoying expanded facilities that eliminate much of the overcrowding endured for years past at the old building, which has now become Carmel's city hall. Classes are afforded roomy quarters in the lounge, music room and parish hall of the new church.

Likewise, the Young People's Fellowship holds its first 1951 gathering at 7 P.M., this Sunday, at the new hall, in the undercroft of the church. Eighth-graders are welcomed to the 'teen-age activities of the fellowship, which is guided by Thomas L. ("Jimmy") Griffin.

Children's choir meetings, too, are at last in suitable surroundings, using the new building's music room especially designed for the purpose. Four o'clock Thursday afternoon is now the regular hour for weekly choral practice of the young parishioners, also under Mr. Griffin's direction.

By EDITH L. BRATTIN, F.R.H.S.

For gardeners who like collecting, violets offer a large selection to choose from. There are many beautiful hybrids. Ezra Brainerd's bulletin on "Violets of North America" lists 75 native species with an additional 89 natural hybrids. There are quantities of man-made hybrids which are probably all descents of Viola odorata, the "sweet violet" native in wide sections of Europe and Asia.

Among the most common garden varieties are the double Marie Louise which is a favorite because of its sturdiness, fragrance and prolific true mauve bloom. V. Farquhar is similar, in fact, so similar that an amateur can rarely distinguish the two. The only noticeable difference is an earlier blooming season and slightly larger flower. The double V. Swanlee white is not as sturdy a grower as the preceding varieties but is a nice addition to a collection.

The single violets still hold the most popular vote with "princess of Wales" probably the most commonly used. Mrs. David Lloyd George, introduced in England is a sport of Princess of Wales. V. Governor Herrick is compact in growth and is one of the heavy blooming varieties. Some of the well-named varieties are Princess Mary, Helen Hoffman, Frey's fragrant, Admiral Avelan, La France, De Parma, Lady Hume, Campbell and Madame Millet. Viola Californica is actually a naturalized form of V. odorata and it will seed itself here in Carmel.

Some of the species and native violets, such as V. roseus (which is a deep orchid pink) and V. canadensis (a white one with blue veining) will thrive in Carmel gardens. Both of these have seeded themselves throughout my garden.

Violets are heavy feeders and like a rich soil. Plant them in an ordinary loam with a plentiful addition of decomposed barnyard fertilizer well mixed into the soil. Top dress with a rich mulch of fertilizer. In dividing violets discard the hard or woody parts and reset the young rooted runners about six inches apart.

Dividing can be done at any time of the year after the blooming season is over. There are few serious diseases or pests attacking violets, alternaria violacea (or leaf spotting), a fungus disease, being the only one of any note, and this is rarely found if conditions are right. If it should occur, Ortho-rin should be sprayed on the foliage and soil.

Burning soot in a chimney is always dangerous. If there are weak spots in the masonry, glowing particles can slip through and start a fire; burning soot also can start a roof fire.

LOTS OF FUN is in store for those watching the golf clinic next Thursday, January 11, at 3 P.M. at Pebble Beach. The clinic is part of the Crosby Tournament. Above photograph, by Julian P. Graham, shows Jimmy Demeet as he stole the show last year, demonstrating the effect of a golf swing with too wide a stance.
